I just noticed a problem with the hot water heater,
It's new, so I've called the plumber that installed it, but don't expect to hear from him until possibly Tuesday.
I've checked with other experts and they're telling me to turn it off for now.
I wanted to let you know because I don't want you to be without hot water before you leave.
I'm mistakenly assumed when you said you switched to a later flight, you meant later that day.
In any case, I will have to turn it off before the end of today to avoid more damage.
